Hate is not anonymous... But your call is!

Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce are doing their part to eliminate hate and racism in the communities they serve. Moving forward Crime Stoppers has decided to institute a promotional campaign across the twin counties that will encourage people to anonymously call in information about racist or hate spreading groups or individuals.

When a person spreads hate they do not wish to be anonymous regarding the targets of their hatred. Their intent is to instill fear in an individual or group they target as well as sway the opinions of others. But the more they pass along this hate the less anonymous they become. Some times all it takes is one tip to put an end to it.

For those wishing to put an end to this type of activity, but do not wish to become publicly involved, Crime Stoppers offers you the opportunity to make a difference. By calling Crime Stoppers your identity is secure and confidential. The information passed along will be forwarded to the appropriate law enforcement agency for follow-up and Crime Stoppers will even pay you a cash reward if it leads to an arrest.

The first arrest in North America for a hate crime, which was not as a result of an anonymous tip, was on March 27th, 1996 when a youth was charged for hate speech over the Internet. A Winnipeg teenager was arrested by police for sending an email to a local political activist that contained the message; " 'Death to homosexuals' - it's prescribed in the Bible! Better watch out next Gay Pride Week.'"

Police traced the email back to a youth and seized his computer that showed a large amount of hate messages. They also found a cache of weapons indicating his desire to inflict harm and seek help from others to do likewise.

A hate crime is a criminal offence and Under

Canada's Criminal Code are described as follows;
319 (1) Every one who, by communicating statements in any public place, incites hatred against any identifiable group where such incitement is likely to lead to a breach of the peace is guilty of (an offence punishable by a fine and/or imprisonment)

(2) Every one who, by communicating statements, other than in private conversation, willfully promotes hatred against any identifiable group is guilty of (an offence punishable by a fine and/or imprisonment).

Incidents may involve physical assault, homicide, damage to property, bullying, harassment, verbal abuse (which includes slurs) or insults, letters, emails or other forms of communication, and even offensive graffiti. The intent of the offender must be to instill fear in their victim.

If you have been victimized by a hate crime or have witnessed a hate crime we encourage you to do the following:

If you feel threatened physically call police emergency at 9-1-1. If you witnessed the incident and have information regarding the perpetrator call 9-1-1.

The Crime Stopper Option

If you wish to report information that may lead to an arrest, but wish to remain anonymous, call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or use the P3 App on your android device. Your identity will be kept completely confidential and the information supplied handed off to the appropriate law enforcement agency. No one can ever know your identity.

Police-reported hate crime... ... we can do better

StatsCan Released: 2023-03-22

The number of hate crimes reported by police in Canada rose from 2,646 incidents in 2020 to 3,360 in 2021, a 27% increase. This finding follows a 36% increase in 2020.

The number of police-reported hate crimes rose by 72% from 2019 to 2021. The COVID-19 pandemic exacerbated experiences of discrimination in Canada - including hate crimes - and underscored an increase in discourse around issues of systemic discrimination.

Higher numbers of hate crimes targeting a given religion (+67%; 884 incidents), sexual orientation (+64%; 423 incidents), and race or ethnicity (+6%; 1,723 incidents) accounted for most of the reported increase from 2020 to 2021.

All provinces and territories reported increases in the number of hate crimes in 2021, except for Yukon, where it was unchanged. When population size is accounted for, the rate of police-reported hate crime in Canada rose 26% in 2021, to 8.8 incidents per 100,000 population. As in previous years, more than half (56%) of police-reported hate crimes were non-violent offences, primarily mischief.

Hate crimes targeting a race or ethnicity increase for a third straight year

From 2020 to 2021, much of the rise in hate crimes targeting a race or ethnicity (+6%) was the result of more reported hate crimes targeting the Arab and West Asian populations (+46%; +58 incidents), the East and Southeast Asian populations (+16%; +42 incidents), and the South Asian population (+21%; +29 incidents).

Number of police-reported hate crimes motivated by race or ethnicity, Canada, 2018 to 2021

Hate crimes targeting the Black population dropped by 5% in 2021, following a 96% increase in 2020. There were 642 incidents targeting the Black population in 2021, corresponding to the highest rate among specific racialized groups (41 incidents per 100,000 population).

The next highest rates were among hate crimes against the Arab and West Asian populations (17 incidents per 100,000 population), the East and Southeast Asian populations (9 incidents), and the South Asian population (6 incidents). See the Note to readers for limitations on interpreting hate crime rates for specific populations.

Following a large increase (+169%; +49 incidents) from 2019 to 2020, the number of police-reported hate crimes targeting Indigenous people - First Nations people, Métis or Inuit - dropped by 1 incident in 2021, totalling 77 incidents. The number of hate crimes targeting Indigenous people rose significantly during the pandemic compared with previous years (2017 to 2019).

Hate crime incidents targeting the Indigenous population continue to account for a relatively small proportion (2%) of police-reported hate crimes (4 incidents per 100,000 population in 2021). Self-reported data indicate that rates of violent victimization among Indigenous people were more than double that among non-Indigenous people. Furthermore, among people who were discriminated against, the proportion who said it occurred when dealing with the police was five times higher among Indigenous people than among non-Indigenous, non-racialized people.

There are many factors that can impact the likelihood that a given crime is reported to the police and subsequently reflected in police-reported statistics. General awareness among the community and the expertise of local police, and the relationship between a given community and the police, can play a role in how or if a crime is reported.

Due to the historical and intergenerational trauma resulting from colonialism and related policies, as well as individual and systemic racism, many Indigenous people face deeply rooted social and economic challenges, including higher rates of criminal victimization, discrimination, representation in the criminal justice system, and lower levels of confidence in the police and other institutions. These and other factors can impact whether a hate crime comes to the attention of the police.

Following three consecutive years of decline, religious hate crimes peak

The number of police-reported hate crimes targeting a given religion rose from 530 in 2020 to 884 in 2021, representing a 67% increase. This finding marked the highest number of hate crimes targeting a religion since comparable data have been recorded and followed three consecutive years of decreases. Police-reported hate crimes targeting the Jewish (+47%), Muslim (+71%) and Catholic (+260%) religions were up in 2021 compared with the previous year.

When religious affiliation among Canadians was controlled for through the census, the rate of police-reported hate crimes targeting the Jewish population (145 incidents per 100,000 population) was highest, followed by the Muslim population (8 incidents per 100,000 population) and the Catholic population (1 incident per 100,000 population). See the Note to readers for limitations on interpreting hate crime rates for specific populations.

Increase in hate crimes targeting a sexual orientation

The 423 hate crimes targeting a sexual orientation recorded in 2021 rose above the previous peak of 265 in 2019. Nearly 8 in 10 (77%) of these crimes specifically targeted the gay and lesbian population, while the remainder targeted the bisexual population (2%) and people of another sexual orientation that is not heterosexual, such as asexual and pansexual people (11%). An additional 10% were incidents where the targeted sexual orientation was reported as unknown.

Non-violent and violent hate crimes are up

The number of non-violent (+26%) and violent (+29%) police-reported hate crimes increased in 2021. Similar to previous years, more than half (56%) of all hate crime incidents were non-violent, while the remaining 44% were violent. Also aligning with previous years, the increase in non-violent hate crime in 2021 was largely the result of more incidents of general mischief (+26%; +260 incidents).

The rise in violent hate crime was the result of more incidents of several violations, including uttering threats (+30%; +98 incidents), common (level 1) assault (+23%; +81 incidents), criminal harassment (+51%; +61 incidents), and major (levels 2 and 3) assault (+35%; +58 incidents).

Like in previous years, police-reported mischief (general mischief and mischief towards property used primarily for worship or by an identifiable group) was the most common hate crime-related offence, accounting for 45% of all police-reported hate crime incidents.

hate crimes increased to a greater extent than non-hate-motivated crimes for a subset of offences (+65% versus +7%) in 2021, including general mischief (+63% hate crime incidents versus +8% non-hate crime incidents), common assault (+50% versus -2%), major assault (+113% versus +18%), uttering threats (+45% versus +11%) and criminal harassment (+169% versus +17%); these offences accounted for the majority of hate crimes.

Victims are most often men and boys, except for those targeting sex or gender

Among victims of police-reported violent hate crimes from 2018 to 2021, 62% were men and boys and 38% were women and girls. More specifically, victims of hate crimes targeting sexual orientation (72%), race or ethnicity (63%), and religion (55%) were more likely to be men and boys. In contrast, nearly three-quarters (74%) of victims of hate crimes targeting sex or gender were women and girls.

Victims of violent hate crimes targeting religion

(median age of 36 years) and race or ethnicity (33 years) tended to be older compared with victims of violent hate crimes targeting sexual orientation (27 years) and sex or gender (28 years).

Victims of violent hate crimes typically sustained no injuries (76%) or minor physical injuries (21%). That said, 3% of victims sustained major injuries or were killed. Men and boys were more likely to sustain an injury regardless of the motivation for the hate crime compared with women and girls.

The relationships between the victim and the accused were similar between genders. Unlike crime in general, a large proportion of violent hate crimes were committed by strangers. Victims of hate crimes targeting sexual orientation (52%) and sex or gender (40%) were more likely to know the accused compared with victims of hate crimes targeting religion (34%) and race or ethnicity (33%).

Nearly half of those accused of a hate crime had prior contact with the police

Based on linked incident and accused records from the Uniform Crime Reporting Survey, 2,872 people accused of at least one hate crime from 2012 to 2018 were identified. Among these people, 49% had been accused in at least one police-reported incident (not necessarily hate crime-related) in the three years preceding their first hate crime. For those with prior police contact, 32% were accused in one prior incident, 40% were accused in two to five prior incidents, and 28% were accused in six or more prior incidents. Among all prior incidents, 28% were for violations against a person (violent).

Similarly, 54% of the people accused of a hate crime in the linkage came into contact with police again within the three years following their initial hate crime violation. Among these people, 27% were accused in one subsequent incident (not necessarily hate crime-related), 40% were accused in two to five subsequent incidents, and 33% were accused in six or more subsequent incidents. Among all subsequent incidents, 30% were violent violations.

CRIME STOPPERS
of Grey Bruce Inc

Numbers don't say it all

Since the inception of Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce, numbers have been the telling story. Unless you take a deeper look, however, numbers don't tell the whole story.

By its very nature Crime Stoppers is a subterranean program. It can not divulge much about specific benefits it has made toward healthier communities or crime reduction. Its purpose is to be confidential in every respect. The program can not shout out to the community that because of this program a specific crime was solved or a wanted individual was arrested. To do so could put a tipster in jeopardy because the program's success is built upon its ability to keep informants identity confidential. Even the Supreme Court of Canada has stated that information supplied to Crime Stoppers is completely confidential and no police, lawyers or courts can force them to reveal their sources.

So trying to convince the public that this is a worthy charitable program to make a donation to is challenging. This means the organization must simply fall back upon statistics to tell their story and for many years this has been the case.

But let's take a closer look at those numbers that crowd the charts. What is it really saying?

In the case of Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce the bare facts are not hard to interpret. In the past 12 months, for instance, 770 people in the community have seen a crime or incident they feel is important for authorities to know about. The information supplied by these 770 people has resulted in the arrest of 25 individuals and the laying of just under 100 charges. If not for their tips these people would have remained at large in our communities to wreak further havoc.

The folks calling in anonymously do so for a wide array of reasons. For whatever reason they are members of our community and have given information that encourages Crime Stoppers to offer them a cash reward. Many, if not most, refuse the reward and, in effect, this contributes to the program's financial success.

The good news does not stop there. Since the inception of the program, covering our 17 municipalities and First Nations territories, 31 fugitives have been located and 120 weapons seized. Fugitives are people known and wanted by police and secretly live among us. The fact they have been captured and taken out of the communities is a reassurance to everyone living here.

	Stat Totals Previous 12 Months	Stats Since Inception In 1987
Tips Received	770	18,379
Arrests	25	1,777
Cases Cleared	17	2,744
Charges Laid	99	2,492
Fugitives	1	31
Rewards Approved	7	749
Value of Rewards Approved	$1,550	$287,385
Rewards Paid	6	286
Value of Rewards Paid	$1,400	$151,460
Weapons Recovered	10	120
Vehicles Recovered	3	20
Total Property, Cash, and Drugs	$613,846	$55,040,951

Simple statistics do not reveal the reduction in community victimization. The numbers of tips received, cases cleared, and charges laid in the last 12 months have victims on the other side of the equation. Potential victims of maltreatment, misadventure, fraud, theft, and addictions have been reduced.

Our quality of life and peace of mind in our communities benefits greatly by a local charity that runs on an annual budget of around $60,000. The return on this investment is astronomical. In the past 12 months alone the total dollar value of the property, cash and illicit drugs seized is well over $600,000. This force multiplier from investment shows both the efficacy as well as the dedication of those involved in the program.

Given more funding Crime Stoppers can do so much more. It recently started initiatives that focus on hate crimes, and human trafficking. It has expanded its ability to communicate with the public through initiatives such as TIPSTER Magazine and attending many functions to spread awareness of the program and its benefits to the community. Crime Stoppers mandate to reduce crime and victims is worthy of your attention.

Graffiti mischief must be removed quickly

(BROCKTON, ON) - On September 15, 2023, at 3:35 p.m., Police received a report about graffiti that was applied to an outbuilding at the soccer fields along East Ridge Road in Brockton.

Sometime between September 8, and September 14, 2023, the offensive graffiti was applied using green spray paint. The graffiti has since been removed by staff.

Graffiti is any writing, symbols or drawing applied to any surface without the property owner's consent. Most acts of graffiti refer to hip-hop culture, but graffiti is also used by gangs and other extremists.

The removal or repair costs can be expensive, but it must be removed. Graffiti left unchallenged suggests a community that is apathetic about its appearance and most often leads to more graffiti being applied.

Applying graffiti is considered Mischief under the Criminal Code of Canada. Mischief carries a maximum sentence of 10 years in jail upon conviction.

2023 Classic car tours show off back roads beauty beyond compare

Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce presented a series of three classic car scramble tours throughout the warm weather months which introduced people to the varied geography and back roads of Grey and Bruce Counties. This was the fourth year for these events put on with the assistance of Sauble Beach and Saugeen Shores Sunset Cruisers along with Saugeen Shores Corvette Club.

The three Classic Car Tour maps, given out by Crime Stopper Volunteers at the beginning of each event, were the keys to beauty beyond compare. Motorists were not expected to cover all these roads in one afternoon but were encouraged to retain the maps as their invitation to return many times throughout all the seasons to take in the local colour and vistas of which this part of Ontario is famous.

With each tour motorists were encouraged to travel on their own or in groups. To make many stops along the way and keep their cameras ready as surprise opportunities abound everywhere. The maps provided show several stop points of particular interest and motorists were encouraged to linger a little longer to take in the views. Organizers also ensured the maps included refreshment and washroom facilities along the way while Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce provided a tad bit of intrigue and excitement with their 50/50 draws.

What follows is a run-down on these activities.

The Bruce County Tour

On Sunday June 25th, Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce presented their south Bruce County Tour and show which centred on the town of Paisley. About 110 classic, hobby and antique vehicles were on display on the grass of the Paisley Palace Park. Many toured the back roads of Bruce County that fan out to the surrounding rolling hills and farm land.

This spirited, picturesque river community of about 1000 people is located at the confluence of the Teeswater and Saugeen Rivers. Paisley is known for a more relaxed lifestyle and vibrant community. Paisley offers a varied selection of retail and service-based businesses, several of which feature the work of local artists and artisans. Paisley has a substantial number of designated heritage buildings and four re-purposed mills as well as the local Treasure Chest Museum which adds to the village's unique character. This Museum provides visitors a great insight into Rural Ontario in the late 1800's and early 1900's. It has something for everyone from china to World War 1 memorabilia and old farm implements. Just south of town is the Bruce County Heritage Farm Museum.

The Bruce Peninsula Tour

On Sunday August 13th, Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce hosted their Bruce Peninsula Classic Car run. This circle route tour took participants on a scenic tour of the west and east sides of the Bruce Peninsula. It included the west road which follows Lake Huron north to Red Bay, Howdenvale, Pike Bay and Lion's Head and then the East road leading down to Cape Crocker, Colpoys Bay and Wiarnton. The west side was full of vacationers and year-round residents who sat by the roadside cheering on the cars as they trekked past. Pike Bay and Lion's Head provided great refreshment stops and the East Road revealed its rugged beauty and picturesque villages and fields. The Wiarnton Keppel International Airport hosted around 170 cruisers with ample space to show off their classic, hobby and antique vehicles.

The Fall Colours Classic Car Tour

The lands on the Keppel peninsula are a very storied part of Grey County. From the initial 1857 purchase from the Chippewa (Ojibway) Nation to the sale of the 100 acre parcels of surveyed lands the township has slowly revealed the colourful scenic vistas we see today. With Colpoys Bay to the west, Georgian Bay to the north and Owen Sound harbour to the east this peninsula boasts the most breathtaking and varied scenery in the least amount of space in the province. It is this condensed beauty we encourage you to appreciate on this tour.

Crime Stoppers of Grey Bruce welcomed participants to stop off and display their vehicle at the Wiarnton Keppel International Airport beginning from noon to 5:00 p.m. or take part in the tour beginning at 1:00 pm and return to the show later. This year, under favourable weather conditions, they hosted almost 200 classic, hobby and antique cars.
